FOUND DEAD IN BED.

John Betz Fell Into a Sleep that Knows No Waking.

John Betz, an employee on the Hyde ranch, was found dead in bed Sunday morning. He retired at an early hour in the evening in his usual good health and it was a great shock to his fellow workmen when they discovered him lying dead in his bed the next morning.

Coroner Pierce was summoned and held an inquest on the remains. The jury sworn in to inquire into the cause of death brought in a verdict of death from natural causes. The deceased was 32 years of age and had no known relatives.

To Cure a Cold in One Day.

Take Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature is on each box.

BREVITIES.

Osmond Haraszthy won the fine gold ring raffled off at the Catholic Fair.

For harnesses go to Chas. Wilson, Main street, Petaluma. You will save money.

Geo. H. Cornelius has sold his two cottages on Second-street East to R. Dal Pogetto.

Sonoma is soon to have a hair dressing establishment. Miss Emma Estes contemplates starting one.

Will Steuben has just received a new line of fancy clocks which are very pretty and within the reach of everybody in price.

Wells, Fargo & Co's express office at Agua Caliente has been closed. Mr. Zoberbier found that the office was more trouble than it was worth and gave it up.

Frank L. Coombs, Republican nominee for Congress, will address the people of Sonoma on the evening of November 3d. This piece of news was not gleaned through County Committeeman Cheney.

Ducks are scarce in the Sonoma marshes and will be until a big storm sets in and drives them from the bay shores into the interior. A few small bags were secured Saturday and Sunday last by local sportsmen, mostly "spoonies."

Fred. Poulson, the horseshoer, shod a horse from Union Station, Napa county, one day this week. When people from an adjoining county bring their horses to Sonoma to get them shod it speaks well for our mechanics.

Union services will be held in the Methodist Church to-morrow (Sunday) evening. Prof. Maxwell and a string quintet will favor the congregation with some excellent music. The quintet will be composed of two first and two second violins and a cello.

It is now said that Mrs. Wilson, who was taken to the County Hospital last week, inherited $1500 and not $40,000, although she gave out the latter figure as being the exact amount. Her case is considered hopeless and it is doubtful if she ever comes out of the hospital alive.

By purchasing your harness at Chas. Wilson's in Petaluma you will save money and be thoroughly satisfied. All the best made whips are for sale here. Also oils, buggy robes, saddles, etc. First-class repairing done on the shortest notice. Just give him a call and see for yourself.

Several of our local fishermen have tried their luck in Sonoma creek since the late rains. Few trout were caught and these were quite small. The rains did not start the fish to running up stream as was anticipated. As the season closes on November 1st the trout are safe until the season opens again on the 1st of next April.

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, ss.
LUCAS COUNTY.
FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is senior partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALE'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY.
Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1898.

A. W. GLEASON,
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

STOPS THE COUGH AND WORKS OFF THE COLD.

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No Cure, no Pay. Price 25 cents.

THE SONOMA POSTOFFICE.

Seven Aspirants Already in the Field to Secure the Office for the Next Four Years.

As the four-year term of Mrs. Millie Bates, Sonoma's present postmistress, expires in a short time there promises to be a lively rivalry among a number of Republican residents of this place to secure the appointment of Postmaster. Among those who are circulating petitions to secure the office, which earns a salary of about $1100 per annum, are the following: Judge J. M. Cheney, Miss Cora Perkins, Mrs. Chas. Colton, H. Appleton Sr., S. H. Shaw and Harry Shaw.

Mrs. Bates, the present incumbent, who was appointed by President Cleveland nearly four years ago, is also in the field for reappointment.

GLEN ELLEN DEMOCRATS.

Will Hold Forth To-Night—Hon. Eugene N. Duprey Will Address the Meeting.

There will be a big Democratic blow out in Glen Ellen this evening. Wm. A. Cowen, nominee for the Assembly, and Blair Hart, candidate for Supervisor, and Hon. Eugene Duprey of San Francisco will address the meeting. After the speaking there will be a free social hop in Mervyn Hall. The music will be furnished by the Sonoma Dance Orchestra.

SONOMA DEMOCRATS.

They Will be Addressed by Jas. F. Farragher, Nominee for Congress.

Jas. F. Farragher, Democratic nominee for Congress, will address the citizens of Sonoma and vicinity on the political issues of the day at Union Hall, on Tuesday evening, October 30th. The Democrats are making great preparations to make the meeting the liveliest of the campaign. After the meeting there will be a social hop in which all are invited to participate.

Jugged for Thirty Days.

Tom Brady, a grape picker recently employed on the Hyde ranch, and a hard-looking customer, was arrested Monday by Constable Ohm and charged with disturbing the peace. Brady, who had been temporarily employed on the ranch, quit work Saturday and with his wages in his pocket came to town and got on a glorious jag. In the midst of his hilarity and profanity he ran into officer Ohm and was taken into custody. When taken before Judge Cheney the offender against the peace and quiet of the town pleaded guilty and was sentenced to thirty days in the County Jail. Constable Ohm took Brady to the county seat Tuesday morning to serve out his sentence.

Recovering From Her Injuries.

Mrs. C. C. Carriger, who was jolted off a Sacramento street car at the ferries, San Francisco, one day last week, is now rapidly recovering from her injuries at her home in El Verano. At the time of the accident she was in the act of alighting from the car when it suddenly started forward, throwing her violently to the concrete pavement. She was severely cut about the head and shoulders and bled profusely.

"Good Literature."

At the union services to be held to-morrow (Sunday) evening at the Methodist church a special service will be held bearing on "Good Literature." Addresses will be delivered by Rev. C. D. Milliken, Rev. Mr. Pardee, Mr. Benj. Weed and Miss Alice Humphreys. Music will be furnished by Maxwell's orchestra. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Death of An Aged Lady.

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Weaver, wife of Andrew J. Weaver, died near Glen Ellen last Saturday. The deceased was the mother of Albert and Frank Weaver, the well-known blacksmiths of this valley. She was a native of Tennessee and aged 66 years 10 months and 16 days. The funeral took place Tuesday. The remains were interred in Valley Cemetery.

GRANDMA COOK.

The Oldest Pioneer Woman Celebrates Her Ninety-Fourth Birthday.

Mrs. Mary Cook, familiarly known to all the old residents of Sonoma as "Grandma Cook," celebrated her ninety-four birthday on Friday, October 19th, at the Cook residence on Spain street. Elaborate preparations for the event had been made by her relatives and friends. One of the features of the celebration was an immense fruit cake, the gift of her grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Cook of Amador county. This cake occupied the center of the banquet board and surrounding it was 94 lighted wax candles, which represented the age of the old lady. A number of relatives and friends sat down to the banquet table and during the feast Grandma Cook was repeatedly toasted with bumpers of bright sparkling champagne.

Grandma Cook crossed the plains and located in Sonoma in 1849 with her husband, the late David Cook, who died sixteen years ago. During a fifty years residence here Grandma Cook has never been to San Francisco, which is only fifty miles distant from Sonoma. She is the mother of seven grown living children and her grandchildren number twenty-three. Grandma Cook enjoys the distinction of being the oldest pioneer mother in California.

Pierce Powers Meets With Another Accident.

Pierce Powers, the well-known Glen Ellen farmer, residing on his ranch in the mountains several miles north of that place, met with a painful accident one day last week. He was thrown under the wheels of his wagon which was loaded with grapes and had an ankle badly crushed.

Some years ago Mr. Powers, who has passed three score years and ten, was run down by a California Northwestern train at Maxwell's crossing. His wagon was demolished and he was thrown high in the air by the cow-catcher but miraculously escaped death. He was badly bruised and cut up, however, and was laid up for a long time. Evidently nothing short of tumbling into a threshing machine and being chopped into mince meat could kill Mr. Powers.

Wedding Reception.

The wedding reception of Dr. and Mrs. Hartley Gottenberg on Wednesday evening was a brilliant affair. Union Hall, where the reception was held, was beautifully decorated with roses, palms and potted plants. About two hundred guests were present. The bride and groom received in a most cordial manner. After many congratulations Mr. Horace Appleton, brother of the bride, welcomed the assembled company in behalf of the family and invited them to join in the festivities of the evening. Dancing was inaugurated and for two hours mirth held full sway. Miss Claire Hope sang during the refreshment interval and a chorus, composed by Benj. Weed in honor of the young bride and groom, was sung by the company. Many handsome gowns were worn by the girls and matrons.

SCHELLVILLE SIFTINGS

Chas. Ohm transacted business in Santa Rosa last Tuesday.

Chas. Lane of Glen Ellen was the guest of Peter Hein Sunday.

"Doc" Wilson was a visitor in this place last Sunday. Philip Snider and Fred. Poulson spent last Sunday shooting ducks on the Jones ranch.

Wm. Helberg is having a new dwelling built on his twenty-acre ranch near this place.

Messrs. McLaughlin and Bowlmeyer spent Saturday and Sunday last with their friend E. Gombert.

Episcopal services will be held at the San Luis school house, Sunday, November 4th at 11 A. M., by Rev. W. L. Clark. All are invited.

Fred. Bailey has secured a sloop which he will use during the duck season. Mr. Bailey will moor the sloop at the drawbridge.

A party of young people enjoyed a row boat ride on Sonoma creek Sunday. A boat was secured from Peter Hein, the accommodating drawbridge tender. Among those who composed the party were Miss McCullough, Miss Doris Clewe, Dr. G. D. Rich and Will Clewe.

Steve Akers returned from the Hawaiian Islands last Friday. He says the islands are no place for a young man without a trade. Steve made the trip mainly for the benefit of his health, which was greatly improved by the sea voyage. We are glad to see him back again.

SOCIETY GOSSIP.

Frank Burris was in town Sunday.

Will Stueben returned Monday from the city.

Miss Bessie Goodwin of Santa Rosa is the guest of Miss Claire Hope.

Hugh G. Maxwell returned from a brief business trip to the metropolis Tuesday.

Mrs. S. M. Toole of Union Station, Napa county, was the guest of Mrs. R. G. Shoults last Tuesday.

F. Clewe, a student at the University of California, was here visiting his relatives several days this week.

Miss Julia Landgrebe is now employed in the millinery department of Weinstein & Lubin, San Francisco.

A. R. Harrison and Nick Hansen, two prancing war horses of Democracy, were down from Glen Ellen Monday.

Miss Mabel Lowell visited her parents last Saturday and Sunday. Miss Lowell is attending the University at Berkeley.

Mrs. Granville Harris returned Sunday evening from the metropolis where she spent three weeks visiting friends and relatives.

Chas. F. Carter and son of Truckee were here Saturday looking up a business location. They expressed themselves as well pleased with Sonoma and the surrounding valley.

John P. McDonnell was here Saturday and purchased a fine horse. McDonnell is doing a rushing business in horse flesh and what he don't know about horses is not worth knowing.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Muser, Dr. and Mrs. Osborne, Rev. Father O'Malley, R. G. Shoults and H. S. Morse were passengers on the north-bound California Northwest train Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Breitenbach was taken to San Francisco last Saturday by her son Louis and placed in the German Hospital, where she will have her eyes treated. Mrs. Breitenbach has been totally blind for several months.

Dr. and Mrs. Osborne and Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Hill, all of Eldridge, attended the Gottenberg reception held here last Wednesday evening. Mrs. Osborne was elegantly attired in red and black silk handsomely trimmed in lace, diamond ornaments. Mrs. Hill was attractive in a rich black silk and lace costume.

Mr. John Mather, formerly of Glen Ellen, has been appointed to the important position of manual training instructor of sloyd in the Iowa School for the Deaf. For the benefit of our readers we will state that the word "sloyd" is of Swedish origin, so, too, is the system itself, and its meaning is "Manual training for the sake of general development, physical, mental and moral, and it also means that kind of hand work which will best stimulate the right kind of head work."

Hallowe'en Social.

The Epworth League will give a Hallowe'en Social in the parlors of the Methodist Church on Wednesday evening, October 31st. Admission, including refreshments, 15 cents. There will be games and the usual mystic observances of the evening.

Two Painters.

During a holiday ramble Sir Frederick Leighton came across a little roadside inn, the signboard of which was being somewhat coarsely painted by a local artist. For some little time Sir Frederick watched the progress of the painting, till the rural artist, glancing down, remarked, "It be a foine day, masher?"

Leighton assented, adding that a figure on the signboard was out of proportion.

"Where be it out?" asked the agitated artist. "I'm thinkin' yer've summer wrong in yer sight."

"If you get off that ladder, I'll put it right for you," replied the R. A. good humoredly.

"Eh, boot can ye paint?" queried the other doubtfully. "Ye ken I dinna want my work spoiled?"

"It's all right, I've done a little painting in my time," answered Leighton, as the other clambered down the ladder. Then, taking the palette, he climbed up and commenced to paint and did not desist until he had completed the signboard.

"Er, boot tha's nae so bad," was the rural artist's comment. "Art is nae so paying now; still I'll gie ye mair siller than I do as a rule."

"Thanks," replied Sir Frederick dryly. "My name is Leighton."

"Verra pleased to ken ye, Mr. Leighton," replied the man, ignorant of what the name meant. "My name is Tam."—St. James Gazette.

One of Webster's Drinks.

"Daniel Webster," said a Boston man, "as all the world knows, had a penchant for looking on wine when it flowed rosy red. At one time he was driving to Cambridge from Boston. He was billed to make a speech at the home of Harvard, and his companion in the old fashioned gig was a member of the reception committee and a resident of the town.

"On the way to Cambridge Mr. Webster turned to his fellow traveler with an inquiry whether there was not some place in the neighborhood where they could obtain a drink. 'If you will drive a short distance out of your way to my house,' was the courteous response, 'I think I can promise you as good a drink of Jamaica rum as you ever tasted.'

"To the house the twain accordingly journeyed, and once there the host, true to his promise, set before the statesman a delectable of extremely fine rum. The great Massachusetts senator poured out a brimming beaker and quaffed it off without wincing. His host tentatively pushed toward him the water jug, but Senator Webster after eyeing it a moment said: 'Thank you, no. I wanted a drink, but I am not thirsty.' He then went on to Cambridge and delivered one of his masterly efforts."

Won by His Retort.

At one of their joint discussions which took place in Kentucky some years ago Tom Stuart, then editor of the Winchester Democrat, gave his opponent, I. N. Boone, a descendant of the great Daniel, a blow that fairly knocked him out of the race for the legislature.

Boone was making his regular speech, and at the proper place in it he referred to the matter of his relation to the tolling masses. "My friends," said he, holding up a pair of hands that looked as if they had not been washed a week, "to let you see for yourself that I am a horny handed son of toll, I ask you to look at these hands, and," turning to Stuart, "I would ask my pale faced young friend from the city what he thinks of them?"

Stuart was on his feet in a minute. "I do not desire to embarrass my distinguished opponent, ladies and gentlemen," he said, with a bow, "but I would say that I think that they need soap and water."

A Mean Interruption.

"Don't trifle with me, Miss McCurdy!" pleaded the young man desperately. "Wait till I have finished. Do I need to tell you, after all these weeks, how completely and absolutely your image fills my heart? Have you not seen? Do you not know? Have I not betrayed myself by my looks, by the tones of my voice, by the eager joy that lights up my features whenever you appear? Must I put in words the feelings I can no more disguise than I can?"

"Mr. Whitgood," interrupted the young woman, "are you in earnest?" "Glycerine McCurdy," he said, drawing himself up with injured dignity, "do you think I'm doing this on a bet?"—Chicago Tribune.

Water.

Boiled water or distilled water should not be used either by grown people or children unless there is danger from contamination from the water in ordinary use. Pure cold water is preferable. A child may be given a glass of cool (never ice) water the first thing in the morning—say half an hour before breakfast, and may also take a glass on retiring.

Guessed Wrongly.

"What do you expect to do with all your money?" asked the multimillionaire's spiritual adviser. "You can't take it with you where you are going."

"Yes, but I can," answered the multimillionaire. "I am going to Europe."—Chicago Tribune.

A Kind Hearted Lady.

A Mrs. Abigail Vaughan left a legacy of 4 shillings per annum with which to buy rags to burn heretics. She left it to St. Martin Outwich, now demolished. Mrs. Vaughan's remains were among those removed to Ireland from the Church of St. Martin Outwich. The facts are given in a history of St. Helen's, Bishopsgate, by a late rector.—Notes and Queries.

Dangerous.

"Papa," asked a 4-year-old youngster, "are little boys made of dust?" "Yes, my son," was the reply. "Well, then," continued the little fellow, "I wish you would make nurse stop using the brush on me. I'm afraid she'll brush me all away."

It Happened in a Drug Store.

"One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a brand of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. R. Grandin, the popular druggist of Ontario, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what cough preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that she could take a bottle of the remedy and after giving it a fair trial if she did not find it worth the money to bring back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In course of a day or two the lady came back in company with a friend in need of a cough medicine and advised her to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I consider that a very good recommendation for the remedy." It is for sale by F. Duhring.

For sprains, swellings and lameness there is nothing so good as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Try it. For sale by F. Duhring.

When you cannot sleep for coughing, it is hardly necessary that any one should tell you that you need a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to allay the irritation of the throat, and make sleep possible. It is good. Try it. For sale by F. Duhring.

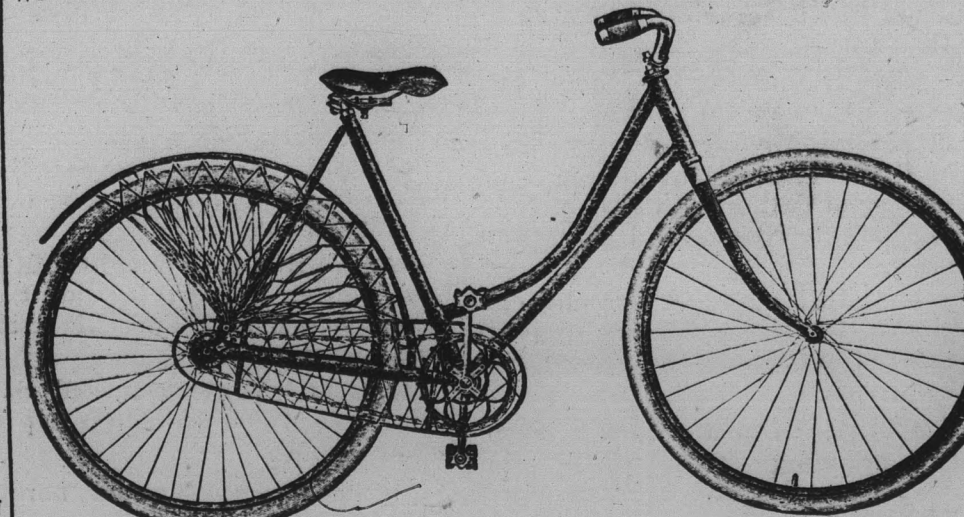

"For three days and nights I suffered agony untold from an attack of cholera morbus brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Centerville, Iowa. "I thought I should surely die, and tried a dozen different medicines but all to no purpose. I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely." This remedy is for sale by F. Duhring.

THE TRAIN WAS STOPPED.

And Then the Question Was Who to Hold Responsible.

"One night last winter," said a Boston man, "I came up from the south with two friends of mine. They occupied the stateroom, and I was lodged in a section outside. They were in a discussion before they retired, and one of them had finally become so sleepy as to abandon the argument. I turned finally, as they did, but the man to whom the argument had been abandoned did not seem satisfied with the victory he had won, and when I left them he was busily engaged in trying to prolong the talk with his sleepy companion.

"Shortly after I had fallen asleep I was awakened by some confusion in the aisle of the car. The train was at a dead stop, and then I heard the voice of the conductor angrily ask of the porter, 'Now, who in thunder pulled that bell rope?' I had a shrewd suspicion, but deemed it safe to lie quiet and say nothing. Finally the train started, and as they could not find out who had jerked the bell rope the car assumed its customary night aspect. Presently the stateroom door opened and one of my friends requested me to step in and decide a bet. It seems that he who was not sleepy was trying to tell the man who was something to which the sleepy one refused to listen on the ground that the noise of the car wheels made it impossible for him to hear. The other man promptly rang the bell and stopped the train, as has already been told.

"The bet of $50 was as to who was responsible for stopping the train. The sleepy one said the wide awake one, because he had pulled the bell rope. The wide awake one said it was the sleepy one, because he had averred that he could not hear what was said to him because of the rumbling of the train, which naturally led to the train being stopped. I decided in favor of the wide awake man, which effectively waked the other up also. Which would you have decided in favor of?"—New York Tribune.

THE SOLDIER'S LIFE.

Only to stand in the red of the fray, Only to battle for glory, you say; Only to leap to the bright song of death, Mourn'ing, "My country!" with fast beating breath;

This is the life of the soldier, you dream, Wreathed with the flag in the battle's red gleam! Night on the road, and the mud to his hip! Visions of little ones leaning with lips Just to be kissed through the dream and desire— Sweetheart and home hearts and love by the fire! This is the life of a soldier, to fare Far from the tenderness waiting him there.

Mourn of the march and the war drums ahead, Beating the call to the battle, the tread Of legions gone down in the ranks in the van. On to the front, file by file, man by man! Soldier, so valiant, so brave and so true, Honor and glory to yours and to you!

Noon on the field and the battle's fierce heat Flamed to the faces unflinching that meet Death in the flash of the shot and the shell, The crash of the cannon, the red, roaring hell, Still 'neath the folds of the flag doth he fight, True to his country and true to the right!

Night on the hills, and, oh, the wide eyes Under the shadow and grief of the skies! Night in the hamlets where broken hearts wait In vain for the heroes that fought against fate! This is the life of the soldier—some time A wreath for a tribute, a rose and a rhyme!—Folger McKinley in Baltimore News.

THE TRAIN WAS STOPPED.

And Then the Question Was Who to Hold Responsible.

"One night last winter," said a Boston man, "I came up from the south with two friends of mine. They occupied the stateroom, and I was lodged in a section outside. They were in a discussion before they retired, and one of them had finally become so sleepy as to abandon the argument. I turned finally, as they did, but the man to whom the argument had been abandoned did not seem satisfied with the victory he had won, and when I left them he was busily engaged in trying to prolong the talk with his sleepy companion.

"Shortly after I had fallen asleep I was awakened by some confusion in the aisle of the car. The train was at a dead stop, and then I heard the voice of the conductor angrily ask of the porter, 'Now, who in thunder pulled that bell rope?' I had a shrewd suspicion, but deemed it safe to lie quiet and say nothing. Finally the train started, and as they could not find out who had jerked the bell rope the car assumed its customary night aspect. Presently the stateroom door opened and one of my friends requested me to step in and decide a bet. It seems that he who was not sleepy was trying to tell the man who was something to which the sleepy one refused to listen on the ground that the noise of the car wheels made it impossible for him to hear. The other man promptly rang the bell and stopped the train, as has already been told.

"The bet of $50 was as to who was responsible for stopping the train. The sleepy one said the wide awake one, because he had pulled the bell rope. The wide awake one said it was the sleepy one, because he had averred that he could not hear what was said to him because of the rumbling of the train, which naturally led to the train being stopped. FOR MALARIA, CHILLS AND FEVER.

The Best Prescription Is Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

The Formula Is Plainly Printed on Every Bottle, So That the People May Know Just What They Are Taking.

Imitators do not advertise their formula knowing that you would not buy their medicine if you knew what it contained. Grove's contains Iron and Quinine put up in correct proportions and is in a Tasteless form. The Iron acts as a tonic while the Quinine drives the malaria out of the system. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's is the Original and that all other so-called "Tasteless" chill tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. You are not experimenting when you take Grove's—its superiority and excellence having long been established. Grove's is the only Chill Cure sold throughout the entire malarial sections of the United States. No Cure, No Pay. Price, 50c.

Her Husband's Story

"My name is E. J. Sprong, and my address is 16 Bondman Block, Troy, N. Y. I want to tell how thankful I am that my wife's health has been restored to her. About a year ago she caught a dreadful cold, which settled in her bronchial tubes and lungs. She certainly had bronchitis, and I think consumption, too, and we despaired of her life. She had a tightness and soreness in the chest, and it was difficult for her to breathe. There were darting, sharp, dull and heavy pains, with constant coughing and expectorating. Each day she was worse than the day before. I was advised to get Acker's English Remedy, and did so, but my wife only shook her head and said: 'Another dollar thrown away.' She took the Remedy, however, and said the effect was magical. In less than an hour there was a remarkable change. She got better at once, and in a short time she was entirely well and strong again. The cure was permanent and there has been no relapse. I don't know what Acker's English Remedy is made of, but I am sure it contains something that fortifies the system against future attacks. My wife is in better general health now than ever, and you can't imagine how happy she is for her recovery. She tells everybody about Acker's English Remedy, and so do I, for I believe it to be our duty to the public to help every sufferer who has throat and lung troubles. My neighbors say it is a sure specific for croup, and has saved the lives of hundreds of little ones around in this vicinity alone."

Sold at 25c, 50c, and $1 a bottle, throughout the United States and Canada; and in England, at 1s. 2d., 2s. 3d., 4s. 6d.
